96 Sets Heat Record for Year Here

RAINS DUE TO BRING RELIEF; WEST COOLER

Today Sees Temperatures Boosted to New Mark; 94 at Noon.

1,013 IS U. S. DEATH TOLL

Fourteen Dead in Ohio, Scores Prostrated as Temperature Mounts.

Marion baked under the highest temperature of the year today when the thermometer went to 96 at 2 p. m. The previous high mark was set yesterday when the mercury reached 95. At noon today the mercury was at 94 and at 2 p. m. two more degrees had been added with prospects of a further increase.

The temperature here today climbed a 10-day heat wave. Relief is promised for Friday. As the center of the storm zone moved across the state yesterday, 14 Ohio deaths and scores of prostrations were reported. The national heat toll moved up to 1,013 yesterday when 248 new fatalities were reported.

Local thunder showers tonight and Friday, with the promise of lower temperatures Friday, are forecast by government weathermen at Columbus.

Marionites endured another sultry night when the mercury remained above the 72 mark last night. A year ago the high was 77 the low 57.

Train Cattle Stricken
Theodore Marshall of Carhart street, train caller at the Union depot, suffered a sunstroke this afternoon. He was found lying face downward in the basement of the station. Marshall had been working in the sun in the morning and other employees thought he had gone home for the afternoon. He was found at 2 45 p. m.

Dr. A. A. Stainer, attending physician, ordered him taken home and placed in ice packs. The sudden change in temperature from the hot sun to the coolness of the basement is believed to have caused the stroke. He was in a semi-paralyzed condition when found. He was taken to his home at the C. E. Curtis Co. ambulance.

John Lower, employed at the Kay Davis garage on Court street, was taken ill this morning while at work. The attending physician said that his sudden illness may have been caused by the extreme heat. He was taken to his home on DeWitt street in the W. C. Boyd invalid car. He was apparently in good health when he reported for work this morning. Mr. Davis said.

Manfield Factory Closed
The Manfield Tire & Rubber company closed down its factory at Manfield at noon today and will remain closed until Monday after.

WAR DEBT PROGRAM IMPORTANT TO U. S.

American Investments in Various Forms Estimated at Three Billions.

Herewith is presented the fourth article in the series on Germany's present condition and its relation to President Hoover's war debt suspension proposal, by Frederick Kuh, United Press Berlin manager.

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)
BERLIN, July 2.—Three billion American dollars were estimated today to be in peril in Germany if this nation fails to get the debt "breathing spell" envisaged by President Hoover's latest rescue mission.

This staggering sum represents investments America has made here since the war. These have been largely in the last six or seven years or following the dizzy spell of inflation when printing presses could not keep pace with the drop in the mark. It went from 42 to the dollar before this slide ceased, and many a German shudders at the thought of any return to such a devastating situation. At present the Reichsbank has a proper gold "cover" for its marks. But the bank has been under tremendous pressure lately, while the drain of domestic demands and reparations has made such inroads on the financial structure of the reich that President Hoover's call is regarded here as an S. O. S. just ahead of the ship sinking.

U. S. Interests Affected
The President is given credit for a deal of altruism in his effort to succor yet hard-headed men in the counting rooms of the Reichsbank and the big "D" banks know that

MEAT CODE TO REGULATE SALE OF FOOD HERE

Health Board Adopts Text of Proposed City Ordinance.

PROVIDES FOR INSPECTION

Law Designed to Prevent Dumping of Unsatisfactory Meat Here.

Final preparation of the proposed meat code to be submitted to city council July 13 as the text for a city ordinance and acceptance of the resignation of George R. Henney as a member of the board of health at its regular meeting in the health offices in the court house yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Henney's resignation was accepted after he explained that he will become a member of city council July 13 to fill the unexpired term of R. G. Smallwood.

Provides Penalties
The proposed code provides rules for the handling of every kind of meat and meat products which may be sold in Marion, and fixes penalties ranging from $5 to $25 for violators of the code.

Every phase of meat handling from the slaughtering to the care of meat in retail houses is covered by the code and inspectors are provided to supervise the slaughtering and inspection of all animals to be consumed as meat in the city. A system of fees embodied in the code will make the meat inspection practically self-supporting. In the opinion of health officials.

Every known practice of the producer of unsatisfactory meats has been forestalled and every requirement necessary to insure Marionites with good clean, unadulterated and properly handled meats has been insisted on in the code, according to Dr. J. T. Guerber, inspector of meat and milk in the city and county, who, after consulting authors of meat codes in other cities, drafted the text of the proposed Marion code.

If hopes of Dr. Guerber and other health officials are realized, practically all inspection in Marion county will be done at a plant to be established in the packing plant at the end of West Center street. Facilities and proper refrigeration will be provided at the plant, and the meat will be inspected immediately after it is butchered. For the inspection service, 50 cents will be charged for carcasses of cattle weighing more than 274 pounds, 25 cents will be charged for inspecting calf car-

'Wiley Post, Globe Galloper' Set Heart on Flying Career When Texas Farm Boy

Uses Savings from Crop To Enter Auto School at Kansas City.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)
Behind every great undertaking there always is a personality, a man whose unflagging zeal weaves the various phases together and explains the success or failure of the project.

In world-circling record flights this holds true, and in seeking the story-behind-the-story of the "Winnie Mae" of Oklahoma, all trails eventually lead to Wiley Post.

A Texas-born farm boy who has whittled out models of airplanes in the days when flying was only a dream, Wiley Post is something more than a newspaper story. He has kept his eyes on his goal as unerringly as he kept the "Winnie Mae" on the course plotted by Navigator Harold Gatty.

It is easy to follow the trail of Wiley Post, but difficult to unravel the ingredients which make up his personality. Stock, brown-eyed, brown-haired and taciturn, Post has a heritage of several generations of southwestern pioneers as well as an Indian strain in his blood.

Not Enthusiastic Farmer
Farming never interested him much. His mother, Mrs. W. F. Post, recalls that even when he was a small bare-footed freckled faced youngster, he had an inordinate desire to tinker with things. He showed a preference for mechanical toys.

Wiley took the utmost pains in the development of his crop and when he had pocketed the profits he found he had enough to set out for a school to train automobile mechanics in Kansas City, Mo.

The Wright brothers' experiments during the first period of aviation development probably were responsible for Wiley's ambition to fly. He heard the story of their experiments and when he should have been hoeing in his father's fields he was more likely to be whittling out an "airplane" model.

Wiley was born Nov. 22, 1896 on an isolated farm in the region where his parents were peared while Wiley and Gatty were demonstrating a picture of two young men in a hurry around the world. Wiley's great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Post, both 90 years old, were still back in Van Zandt county, Texas, reading of his achievements.

FLIERS GREETED AT CLEVELAND PORT

FICTION OUTDONE IN STORY OF FLIER

From farm hand to world famous globe flier, that is the story of Wiley Post, told in an exclusive series by Leon Dunt, Associated Press correspondent, and starting in The Star today.

The epic of this boy, who rode plows and tractors on a ranch antiquated planes on "barnstorming" tours and, finally, a roughly flying steed circling the globe at a dizzy pace, outshadows the stories of fictional heroes.

"Wiley Post, Globe Galloper" is the title of his life-story, a series of eight stories, one a day beginning today.

Wiley Post, globe flier, who rode plows and tractors on a ranch antiquated planes on "barnstorming" tours and, finally, a roughly flying steed circling the globe at a dizzy pace, outshadows the stories of fictional heroes.

NEW YORK CITY HONORS NEW HEROES OF AIR

Post, Gatty Given Reception After Circling Globe in 8 Days, 15 Hours.

DISORDER MARKS LANDING

Record Established by Graf Zeppelin Cut in Half; Cover 15, 474 Miles.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 2.—Mr. Knickerbocker gave the young man from Oklahoma, Wiley Post, and the young man from California, Harold Gatty, a boat ride today, a parade, a speech by the mayor, a shower of ticker tape, the acclaim of hurrahing thousands, and a gala luncheon at the Ritz.

Nine days ago there was only a handful of people at Roosevelt field to see these same two men start the flight around the world which ended in record breaking time of eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes last night.

Starting from their hotel at 10 30 a. m. today, the fliers, their wives and the official welcoming committee for the city moved through lanes of people to the North river at 44th street where they boarded the steamer and went to the Battery.

On their way from the Battery back to the hotel the fliers stopped at city hall where Mayor Walker told them how proud New York was of their exploit.

It was 1 30 when they returned to their hotel for the official luncheon, after which they faced a busy afternoon and evening of honors.

There were crowds all along the route. Even before the fliers were out of their beds at 9 30 a. m. a crowd had collected around the doors of the Ritz Carlton hotel, their headquarters. When they finally made their appearance in the lobby, remarking that they had slept "fine," they were applauded by a hundred guests. Outside, 2,000 more persons had collected.

Even though Gatty and Post were obviously refreshed by sleep, by clean linen, shaves and baths, there were still traces of weariness in their faces.

RECORD SLICED

Post, Gatty Return to New York in Less Than 9 Days.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 2.—The round the world flight record was down to less than nine days today.

At 7 47 Eastern Standard time, last night, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty brought their plane down on Roosevelt field, which they left at 3 56 a. m., a week ago last Tuesday. In 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes they flew 15,474 miles around the northern hemisphere. The previous record, established by the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin two years ago, was 21 days, 8 hours, 34 minutes.

Post, pilot, and Gatty, navigator, left Edmonton at 5 30 a. m. Eastern Standard time yesterday and flew 1,600 miles to Cleveland, stopping for fuel at 4 15 p. m. Twenty-nine minutes later they started their last hop and ended an air tour of 10 countries, in the actual flying time of 4 days, 10 hours, 8 minutes.

Wild Disorder Marks Greeting; Hundreds Hurt

By The Associated Press
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—One man was in a hospital today and hundreds were nursing bruises as a result of disorder when Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed their monoplane at the end of their globe girdling flight.

Edward Conneron, vice president and general manager of Air Services, Inc., was on the serious list at Nassau county hospital. He had a severe laceration of the scalp and a possible fracture of the skull. He was placed under arrest and an officer was stationed at the door of his hospital room, although no charge had been placed against him.

He was at the field, where his company has its offices, with his wife. The Nassau county police version of what happened is that he was injured after pushing three policemen off their motorcycles and knocking down two other officers. He was escorted from the field but became so obstreperous, police said, that he was subdued forcibly.

More than a dozen motorcycle policemen formed a moving circle around the plane. With screeching sirens and exhausts spitting fire they made an impenetrable cordon. Outside this ring was a circle of more than 100 officers with night sticks ready. As the crowd pressed forward, those on the inside were jostled against the officers. Night sticks flew left and right. In several cases, the officers used their fists, too.

Yours,

Will Rogers

SIGN DELAY UP TO WHITE

Gallon Man Declares White Has Power to Stop Route Transfer.

Despite statements of the governor's secretary to the contrary, Governor White and his state highway director have the power to delay the erection of route markers on federal route 30, said J. J. Goggin, of Gallion, a leader in the movement of cities along route 30 South to protest the recent relocation of the route through Bucyrus, Crestline and Upper Sandusky, declared today.

Erection of all highway markers is done by the state highway department, and the department can refuse to erect the markers or can delay their erection, Mr. Goggin said.

These statements were made by Mr. Goggin when he learned that Al Goggin, secretary to Governor White had said that there was nothing either the governor or Highway Director O. W. Merrill could do to stop the erection of the markers.

Last two years the state of Pennsylvania refused to erect federal markers ordered placed by the American Association of State Highway officials who ordered the relocation of route 30. Mr. Goggin continued.

The next move in the fight of cities along the southern route to protest the relocation of route 30 will be taken either today or Friday when local officials of the route relocation committee of the southern route representatives ask the governor for a hearing at an early date.

To See Governor
W. D. Brown, executive vice president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce and a member of the relocation committee, said that a letter asking for a hearing within a week will be forwarded to the governor yet this week. A small delegation of representatives of cities along the southern route will attend the hearing before the governor if it is granted, Mr. Brown said.

Regardless of the outcome of the conference with Governor White markers will not be moved to the northern route before late fall or early next spring, highway officials have said. The delay is to provide time for a collection of highway maps for next year. Representatives of the four cities, however, are asking that the erection of the markers be delayed until

Maine Honored

(Will Rogers Special)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 2.—America is a land of opportunity and it doesn't ever forget it. Yesterday our local papers say people are dying from heat by thousands in the east, out here we are just dying, but for no particular reason at all.

Well, there was elected to a very high office, president of the Educational Association, just a plain, pleasant looking fat (and enjoying it) common sense woman. She is head of the rural schools in Maine and when you are rural in Maine you are rural. Now she is head of all the teachers in our land.

I guess from her name, Miss, that she is an old maid, but darn it I just liked her looks in the paper this morning and I believe she could teach these young modern heathens of this some sense.

Yours,

Will Rogers

"Sunny Month of June," No Misnomer This Year

"This June the month of roses, one song opens and continues, 'Oh golden sunny day.' So golden sunny that they melted things last month in Marion, the populace included.

Three days reached the 84 mark, three were 83, and three were 82, and the low temperature ranged in the 60s and 70s, making even nights uncomfortable. The average temperature for the month was 71.3, several degrees higher than the monthly average for June of 69.8 given out by the weather bureau.

Only seven of the days were clear from sunrise to sunset, although 12 were clear at the time of the observation in the morning. Thirteen days were cloudy and 10 were partly cloudy.

Five thundershowers were recorded for the month, on June 1, 10, 22, 26 and 29. A rain Sunday night cleared the atmosphere and made bedrooms more comfortable. The average low temperature for June is 55 and the lowest here was 36.

7 MARION COUNTY MEN MAY GO FREE

New Law May Give More Than 2,300 Pardons from Prisons.

Seven Marion county prisoners will be eligible to ask the parole board for release from the Marion penitentiary and the London farm and more than one-third of the inmates of the penitentiary will be eligible to ask the parole board for their release at that time under provisions of the law, passed on three bills introduced in the last general assembly session.

Provisions of the code which a low prisoners to be represented before the board by attorneys, a practice forbidden for 40 years will give the convicts a far better opportunity of winning their parole than they have had in the past. It was pointed out.

Hard Time, Henry Doesn't Save Negro from Jail

Barry, a colored man, was brought to the Marion penitentiary on a charge of stealing a car. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to a term of 30 days in jail and payment of the costs of the case. The case was the property of Municipal Judge W. B. Brown. "I was just driven to it," Brown was quoted as saying yesterday afternoon after leaving the Marion penitentiary.

Daily Proverb—"He that hath no house of his own is everywhere at home."

The Manifesto racing meeting has been called off because of the refusal of Richard county officials to permit betting, which gives a pretty definite line on the real purpose of such meetings.

From Columbus comes the announcement that fifty employees have been cut off the state payroll as a start on "Ohio program of retrenchment." Really, Governor White, isn't this a bit revolutionary?

Another warm weather note—A party of British climbers has reached the 25,447-foot summit of Mount Kamet, in the Himalayas, which has as a cloak an eternal covering of snow and ice.

There is always something for which to be thankful. If none other occurs to the reader, let him think of himself as the new envoy of Spain all topped up in formal evening dress and being presented at the White House under the sweltering heat of Tuesday's sun.

The Michigan supreme court has confirmed a $150,000 breach-of-promise judgment rendered against a Detroit realtor. What a heart crusher that man must be to do damage like that!

"The Alfred E. Smith for President League of Massachusetts" has been organized in Boston, the purpose of which is to attempt to secure the election of Smith delegates to the national Democratic convention. Is religious prejudice to figure with partisan prejudice in the next campaign as it did in the last?

Pierre S. du Pont, who has expended many millions of dollars in erecting modern school buildings in the state of New Jersey, has uttered a vehement protest to the plan to erect a statue in his honor, an anonymous donor having given $50,000 and a sculptor having been engaged for the purpose. A man of such modesty in this day and age deserves a monument. He's a rarity.

Casket manufacturers have debunked the stories of $15,000 caskets for gang leaders, calling them myths and stating that the coffins which have been used cost from $400 to $600. Another large, ragged hole in the structure so carefully built up by sensational writers for the glorification of crime!

"Midwest Bakes at 100 Degrees" trail a headline last week over a heat story from Iowa. It was our idea that out in that section of the country a temperature of less than 110 degrees was taken merely as an indication that it was "heating up."

Immigration for the fiscal year ended Tuesday fell below 100,000, and probably did not much exceed 90,000, the lowest recorded since the 91,885 record of 1902, while the departures were about 60,000, an alien increase for the year of not more than 40,000. Those who believe in America for Americans will no doubt hold that even a long period of depression is not utterly without advantage.

A Real Problem.

Some days ago reference was made in these columns to the wonderful increase the nation over in building and loan and savings accounts, an increase so great that the placing of it to earn a return has become a mighty problem for the managements of such institutions.

A statement given out in Columbus last week by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown rather goes to show that the banks of the country, judging by the situation facing the incorporated banks of Ohio, are facing much the same problems so tremendous has been the increase in their aggregate wealth during the last two decades.

In 1910, the secretary set out in his statement, the aggregate wealth of the incorporated banks of Ohio was $474,000,000, but at the end of last year it had grown to $2,325,038,772.

It might be assumed that this great increase was in large part due to growth in population, but such is not the case. The population of Ohio ten years ago was seventy-two per cent of what it is today.

During the last twenty-three years, Secretary Brown's statement sets out, forty-eight reports have been made by the state's division of banks, and the aggregate resources of the state banks were reported increased each time, excepting in ten cases. The decreases, the report goes on to state, never lasted over three successive reports—a period of two years.

It is worthy of note that the decreases to which the secretary makes reference came in years of great prosperity, years when the public was largely committed to the purchasing of Liberty bonds or years when speculative interest was very high and the public was having visions of getting rich overnight.

British Jockeying for Position.

Objection can not reasonably be raised to Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald's plea for pledges of support from all political parties, if thereby is meant all British political parties, to a British policy of drastic reductions in naval, military and air forces at the disarmament conference next January. That is generally understood to be the purpose of the calling of the conference. Nor can serious objection be raised when the British premier does a little jockeying for position at the coming conference, which is precisely what he was doing when laying out his war armaments before the house of commons this week. But there is a grand for both comment and criticism when in doing his jockeying, he employs what he must know so far as his statistics regarding United States armaments are concerned is largely bogus.

Mr. MacDonald's figures as presented to the house of commons showed Britain to be the only world power which has reduced its naval and military expenditures in recent years, while the United States, France, Italy and Japan were increasing theirs. According to them, Britain had reduced her naval expenditures from $380,000,000 in 1914 to $280,000,000 in 1930, while the United States had increased hers from $210,000,000 in 1914 to $2,400,000,000 in 1930. The statement of the press showed further that, while Britain's army expense from 1914 to 1930 had remained practically the same—about $200,000,000—the expense of maintaining the American army had been increased by $600,000,000 since 1925 and that, whereas Britain had scrapped two-thirds of her planes and now had only 800 available, the similar equipment of the United States was 1300.

The British premier evidently did not feel called upon to point out that Britain had such a preponderance of warship tonnage in 1924 and still has that it would take years for this country to put her feet on a parity with the British did she execute her program to that end, which she has not done, although that right was accorded her at the London conference. Nor did he state that the immensity of the cost of warship construction in this country over and above the expense of similar construction in his own or the comparatively greater cost of maintaining the American army. As for his comparison of the 800 "available" planes of Britain to the mythical 1300 of this country, he must have smiled when he uttered that. Why, special endeavor was made to assemble something like 700 planes for the recent air demonstration over here, and over thirty per cent of them, it was conceded, would have been greater liabilities than assets if used under war conditions.

Our government will not be fooled by Mr. MacDonald's endeavor to have all comparisons on expenditures. They will insist that all naval comparisons be based on tonnage and guns, army comparisons on number of men and air comparisons on power and armaments. But the propaganda uttered by him this week looking to the 1932 conference may cause readers of American newspapers to imagine that this country is outdistancing the world in the matter of offensive armaments, which is far from the fact. The truth is that we are lamentably behind not only Great Britain, but also lagging behind much lesser powers in national preparedness.

This country would gladly welcome far greater limitation of world armaments, it would welcome world disarmament, but even the wily British statesmen will experience difficulty in getting this country either to disarm before the remainder of the world disarms or to enter into an agreement looking to the limitation of armaments on a cost basis.

Two seats on the New York stock exchange were sold last week one for $272,000 and the other for $268,000. What possible distinction can be carried by the ownership of a seat on change when they are going at bargain counter prices such as these?

The Farm Board Policy.

The federal farm board, under stress and fire from all sides, formulates a new policy in response to President Hoover's suggestion made last Saturday it will limit sale of stabilization wheat during the next crop year to a cumulative maximum of 5,000,000 bushels monthly. The limitation does not apply, however, to sales to foreign governments or their agencies.

The policy reveals that the farm board must have been more than a little puzzled by the President's suggestion, which is thought to have been made for political purposes. The agricultural vote would not be helped by the belief that the farm board, an instrument created by the administration, was competing with individual wheat operators in the new market. Mr. Hoover may be excused properly for straightening and strengthening this political fence, particularly since his action will have so little effect on the operation of the farm board. Five million bushels of wheat a month is as much as the board would be able to dispose of anyway. Its holdings are estimated to be approximately 20,000,000 bushels.

James C. Stone, chairman of the board, is known to be opposed to a definite rigid policy for the sale of the wheat under the board's control. Mr. Hoover's suggestion undoubtedly caused him some bad moments, but in the terms of the board's new policy there is evidence that he did not give in any more than was necessary to keep in step. The board will continue to sell and work in the interest of agriculture, regardless of politics.

An American was hanged up in Montreal last week for murder. Americans who go up into Canada for the purpose of committing murder can not complain when they find that the Canadians are inclined to look seriously on the taking of human life and are not much given to heed of the sob-sister stuff.

The Women's Moderation union announces that it will present a petition, carrying the names of 1,000,000 women, to congress and the President, asking for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and now we may assume that women drys will bob up with a petition, signed by 2,000,000 women, asking that more teeth be put in the enforcement laws. The petition game is a great one but it has been greatly overplayed by both wets and drys.

Editorial Opinion.

DETROIT'S DOLE SPREE.

While numerous agencies are investigating the operation of dolo, Detroit thrusts a permanent example of municipal beneficence under the limelight. Detroit is perhaps the only city in the country that has not been discriminating in regard to pronounced charity during the depression. With tender compassion the municipal authorities opened their arms to the hungry, the unsheltered and the unclad from all parts of the country. There was to be no end to the city's benevolence, as long as men and women complained of want. But unfortunately the necessity of replenishing the city's coffers has brought Detroit's profusion of charity to a sudden and jarring halt.

Citizens who have floated over the buoyantness of their municipal government have now come to realize that Mayor Murphy's unemployment committee has passed out more than $15,000,000 in the form of dolo, and the city is dangerously near bankruptcy. Detroit has been so lavish in feeding the unemployed that nothing is now left to meet the municipal pay rolls. The city finds it necessary to increase its debt of $200,000 to keep its own employees from the banks of jobless men.

Detroit offers an excellent example of charity running wild. Mayor Murphy was elected on a pledge that no one should go hungry in Detroit. In a frantic effort to keep his word he has allowed the distributing agency of the dolo system to run far ahead of the investigating agency. Chronic idlers as well as the worthy unemployed have flocked from many other cities to partake of Detroit's money. Few questions have been asked the applicants, and many frauds have been perpetrated. One young clerk with a criminal record is charged with procuring $200,000 from the unemployment fund. Yet the prodigal distribution of "charity" has gone on.

Mayor Murphy made a tour recently to tell the country how Detroit had solved the depression. But he is not saying much about the headache which the automobile manufacturing metropolis is now beginning to feel. The people are beginning to awake from the narcotic of the dolo. Taxpayers see the necessity of scraping deeper into their pockets. Of what advantage is an era of "dew and sunshine" if it brings in its wake a disastrous storm of debt, higher taxes, depression, and a shattered morale on the part of thousands of people who have been recklessly converted into public charges? Cities that are tempted to embark upon a charity spree will do well to remember Detroit and the dolo—Washington Post.

Dinner Stories.

"Daddy, can I have $25 to buy you a birthday present?"
"Consider it bought, my dear, and I'll keep the money."

First Steno—"Geel" wasn't I tired last night.
Second Ditto—"Worked hard at the office, eh?"

First—"Yes, and overtime at that. Why I typed so many letters last night I finished my prayers with 'Yours truly'."

"Good morning, Mrs. Kelly," said the doctor, "did you take your husband's temperature, as I told you?"

"Yes, doctor, I borrowed a barometer and placed it on his chest. It said 'very dry' so I bought him a pint of beer and he's gone back to work."

"Don't you know there is a rumor that the racing in which your husband is interested is crooked?"

"Not a bit of truth in it," said young Mrs. Torkins. "They can't be crooked. Charley showed me the track and it's a perfect oval."

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Sunday, July 2.
Heat records ranked from ninety-four to 108. The dead as the result of the heat, however, were estimated at less than 100.

Jesse Garver had the little finger of his left hand almost tipped off while playing ball.
Mabel, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lusch of Franconia avenue, was badly injured by being run into by a man riding a bicycle.

Despite the extreme heat—the local temperature reached 100—Marion church services were well attended.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, of Patterson street.

Miss Cora E. Raviden and Mr. Moses H. Pacher were married by Rev. H. Livingston.
Mrs. Effie N. Fields, suffering from the awful heat, attempted to take her life to escape it by turning on a gas burner at her home.

Regan pitched splendid ball and Marion defeated Hamilton, ten to seven.
William Knott took his life by drinking carbolic acid.

Glandular Extracts.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Primitive man believed his courage would be made greater by eating the heart of his enemy. Today modern medicine advocates the internal use of certain glandular extracts. In fact, some of the authorities claim that certain glands are capable of controlling age and that others possess powers of rejuvenation. The hopeful scientist thinks it may become possible to prevent the unprofitable physical changes of advancing life from taking place.

These chemical substances, produced by the glands of the human body, are spoken of as "internal secretions" or "hormones." From these organs, they are carried by the blood to other parts of the body and are used as needed.

These substances have been definitely isolated. They are known to be secreted from certain glands with big names, notably the pineal, pituitary, thyroid, parathyroid, thymus and adrenal glands. In addition, it is known that the pancreas, stomach, upper intestines and other glands secrete similar substances likewise known as hormones.

In some diseases, there is a deficiency in the secretion of one or more of the hormones. When this happens, here is trouble.

For instance, when the thyroid gland fails to supply the normal amount of its internal secretion, we have an uncomfortable physical condition, spoken of as "myxedema." It is startling to observe the favorable effect of giving an extract of thyroid gland in this disease. This is only one example of what the administration of a glandular substance by mouth may do to promote a favorable change in the welfare of an individual. I wish space permitted giving you other examples.

Of course there are ninety-nine claims made that are unauthorised. There is too much unscientific literature on this subject.

Unless your physician recommends or subscribes a certain glandular remedy, you should not take it. It may be of no value whatsoever or it may be harmful.

Napoleon's Tutor.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

A game of emperors and a story of science in Charles Louis Berthollet. His name is a household word, and that of Napoleon Bonaparte one of the comprehensive and inspiring names in the world's annals. When Napoleon was a young general on the Italian front he formed the acquaintance of Berthollet and came to a genuine attachment for him. So impressed was Napoleon by the practical value of science as demonstrated by Berthollet that he became Berthollet's pupil and later attended his lectures on chemistry in Paris.

It was to Berthollet, we learn in "The Book of Popes," that Napoleon confided his secret plan for an expedition to Egypt, and asked him to select a band of men of science to accompany the army. Bread-making, beer-making, gunpowder manufacturing, iron smelting and steel tempering, the erection of hospitals and the establishment of a botanical garden were a few of the tasks that this brilliant chemist agreed to direct while following Napoleon in the Egyptian campaign.

Berthollet, one of the great French scientists, was born at Talloire, Savoy December 2, 1748. His family, though marked by poverty, was extremely ingenious. Berthollet acquired a medical profession as a means of livelihood and received the degree of doctor from the University of Turin at the age of nineteen. After practicing his profession for four years at Turin, he removed to Paris. Through the influence of the famous doctor, Trévoux, who was struck by the young man's talent, Berthollet was soon well established as a practicing physician.

Having the reputation of the chemical laboratories in the Palais Royal, he soon became an official tutor of the royal family. Within a year Berthollet had discovered and made practical use of a new process for bleaching fabrics. The method he discovered is the more modern one named by means of a preparation of chlorine. Although he probably needed the money which he would surely have made by patenting the process, he generously made known his invention and did all he could to persuade men to use it.

Berthollet was one of those magnetic popularizers of science who make the general public recognize both the interest and the value of science. He had been said that, at the height of the French revolution, Berthollet was regarded by all parties in France as one of the sages of wealth and strength in the country. His profound interest was centered in the subject of explosives. He hoped to be able to utilize the explosive power of compounds, which he had discovered in studying chlorine compounds, as substitutes for gunpowder when they greatly exceeded in strength. But a disastrous explosion put an end to his plans in this direction. But in the interests of the public he continued his researches in explosives and finally succeeded in discovering fulminating silver. He became a government expert in chemical matters. One of his interests was to study and devise more scientific methods for cleaning canvases.

In spite of Napoleon's many favors to Berthollet, which included making him a senator and conferring on him the title of count, the latter was never won over to Napoleon's way of political thinking. He actually voted for Napoleon's deposition in 1814. He was made a peer of France in the restoration of the Bourbon kings. Berthollet was a singularly gifted chemist who sought successfully to use chemistry in arts and industries. He died on November 6, 1822.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Ohio's Artesian Well Experiment.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Before the judiciary building was erected in the state capital grounds a heavy square stone lay about 150 feet northward of the capitol building, which marked the mouth of a bore made by the state in 1874 in an effort to secure artesian water for the state offices. It is gone now, and it might be difficult to locate the mouth of the well, but if so it is small loss, for it was a useless enterprise.

The drill went down the depth of 2025 feet—a very deep exploration in those days—and while water was of course found it did not rise to the top, or anywhere near it. Work was begun on November 4, 1877, and continued with a brief interruption, due to the exhaustion of the first appropriation for the work, to October 14, 1889. The experiment was regarded as a thorough negative test so far as artesian water was concerned. The cost of it was $5,500.

An historical incident connected with the work contained in the political records of Columbus was that in 1859 an important state campaign was in progress. Salmon P. Chase was governor, completing his second term, and William Dennison was the Republican candidate to succeed him. Both Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln, outstanding figures in their respective parties, were invited into the Ohio campaign, and both accepted.

Douglas came first. He spoke from a platform built on the eastern verge of the esplanade still standing between the capitol and the judiciary building, facing west, the audience being on the esplanade. The acoustics of the place were found bad, and the noise of the steam engine running the drill a few hundred feet away annoyed the speaker. He tried to make himself heard, but after a few sentences stopped and said, "I can't speak against a steam engine." Some one ran over to the well and spoke to the engineer, who stopped his engine until the meeting was over. Three days later Lincoln spoke on the same esplanade, but with his back to the capitol and with better effect. No mention of interference by the engine was made by chroniclers, and presumably was suspended during Mr. Lincoln's meeting.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, July 2.—It is axiomatic that the most influential citizen is not only the one for the reporter to see, but to interview. A notable exception.

Reporters have cooed their heels in outer offices of suddenly-elevated upstart been immediately ushered into the presence of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Chauncey Depew. This courtesy does not last in commercial life.

It applies to great actors, top-notch poets and senators. On a recent visit G. K. Chesterton won the good will of a journalist—from snip news crew to the long correspondents—by his graciousness in return he received thoughtful consideration. Maude Adams would not see reporters her decisions were amiable. She was abrupt. If letters were sent asking an view they were invariably answered politely. It was explained interviews were granted. Her wishes were respected by reporters and by photographers.

It is the insolent person who finds the rough with the newspaper crowd. One who has been treated discourteously they are the elephant aggrieved. They never let it go. And often this resentment is carried over years in a conspiracy of silence.

Irvin Cobb's story, "The Thunder of Silence," was based on the actual experience of a Washington statesman. He only snubbed correspondents, but did not snub them fairly in news conferences. He shunned to oblivion by being completely ignored.

The only vigorous opposition I ever met interviewing was when a young cub in town, Ohio. My city editor sent me to a rather prominent citizen who had retired and chambered a fifty-nautilus for mother's former parlor maid. At the question he leaped from his desk, shook the terrier dog he had sent me and sprang into a corner. That experience focuses my ambitions on ultimately doing only 1 work.

The most agreeable interview I ever was with the British subject, Leome K. home. He not only furnished me with a pile of crack anecdotes applicable to the time, but when the piece appeared dropped a complimentary note to the publisher about it won a two-dollar weekly raise. And I need it!

In the mail today from a gracious man in Florida came an hour glass as a whim. I had no idea it could prove so cinating. The rhythm of its soft flow something of great beauty, but there, loom monstrous symbols of the city's efforts to symbolize man's present human virtues—a useless rushing along into station. The hum of a big bottle fly upon the same futility. The tick of a clock expresses the passing of time, but is cheerful about. And now that I've got myself all smothered using this way I'm about half mad at new hour glass.

The season has been toughest in years at the Rialto. In every block in Broadway virgins one stumbles into groups of well-known players at liberty. They try to be as nice as possible, but the pack beginning to produce a strained look of them drift from Linda to Ma Gerson, the curb of the Palace and various coffee-drowning despair in cauldrons of java. Afternoon I encountered a monologist on 4th avenue. "Laying off this week," I quired. "This week," he replied. Name week!

The hang-outs of theatrical folk are always engaging. I usually seek them when I am out. Actors express the human side of us would like to include but lack the cash. It is their mode of living rather than their acting that supplies the magic theater to me. I get a kick just off George M. Cohan around in the mar of the dog after the covered wagon.

I dropped over to clip my bond today found it in another sinking spell, and bring heavily. Powerful influences seem to keep that bond from amounting to anything. I'm beginning to suspect Morgan that crowd.—Copyright, 1931, McNaughton Sye, Inc.

Call for Real Patriots.

A sense of excessive value in the service render is a sad handicap to many public officers, but the municipal officialdom, Hoopston, Illinois, will be immune. The aries of the aldermen have been fixed twenty-five cents a year and that of the ma at four bits.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, July 2.—The army's new chief of staff, General Douglas MacArthur created no little stir when he issued a statement against the opposition of so many old-timers around the war department.

Many old-timers around the war department could hardly believe there were seeing any dried feet away among the speakers. He tried to make himself heard, but after a few sentences stopped and said, "I can't speak against a steam engine." Some one ran over to the well and spoke to the engineer, who stopped his engine until the meeting was over. Three days later Lincoln spoke on the same esplanade, but with his back to the capitol and with better effect. No mention of interference by the engine was made by chroniclers, and presumably was suspended during Mr. Lincoln's meeting.

"Anomalous as it seems, it appears stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure. "In effect they proclaim their willingness see this nation perish rather than participate in its defense."

In the past, things like this were just done by those in charge of Uncle Sam's fighting men. Whatever they may have thought privately about the matter, their public professions have been guarded and extreme diplomatic.

General Pershing, for example, always has been inclined to tread rather softly when confronted with such situations.

Still a crusader at heart, a preacher of his duty, of faith in God and the destiny of America, he recently had occasion to speak as a soldier for a religious cause.

He is one of the leaders of the movement bring to completion by the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth the Washington cathedral.

TONGEE MEDICINE ENDS RHEUMATISM

Goes to Very Source of This Disease; Cleanses Blood Stream; Relief Permanent.

Many authorities consider rheumatism as the demon affliction—one of the most terrible afflictions of mankind. They point to the way

THE TONGEE MAN

this dreaded disease often swells
and stiffens the fingers, hands, arms and limbs; they describe the agonizing aches and pains that usually come in the muscles and joints; they relate how the trunk of the body is sometimes twisted and bent all out of shape by this awful ailment and they say these things make rheumatic trouble one of the most terrible of all ailing conditions.

It is surprising what the new Tongee medicine accomplishes in such instances of rheumatic misery.
The great physicians' formula of the finest medical juices has a wonderful cleansing effect on the blood that it drives the rheumatic poison from the system and at the same time relieves the Three cleanses the blood by natural means, thus bringing permanent relief to the rheumatic and neuritic sufferer. It acts upon the important functional organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and following is a detailed account of the true action of this medicine upon these organs.

Tongee will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys, thus helping to flush out quantities of impurity that may have become dammed up inside, causing backache, sharp pains and rising at night, swollen ankles.

It will make your liver more active and clear away old bile, thus helping to relieve spells of biliousness and sick headaches that sometimes last for days.

At the same time, Tongee will clear your stomach and intestines of old gas, sourness, half-digested substances and impure "matter," which impurities often half-fill the stomach and intestines and form a coating on the linings, frequently being the real cause of all along of stomach trouble and rheumatism.

After the wonderful work of Tongee in such cases, the people of Marion and vicinity are turning to this medicine for relief because it is proving to be exactly what they have always needed.

New Law Will Regulate Ohio July 4 Celebrations

Beard Act, Effective Aug. 2, Provides Penalties for Violations
in All Branches of Fireworks Production and Marketing.

By International News Service
COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—Unregulated Fourth of July celebrations will soon be only a matter of history—so far as fireworks are concerned.

For the first time in the history of the Buckeye state, a law regulating the use of fireworks—statewide in its application—will become effective Aug. 2.

This law, known as the Beard act, relates to the manufacture, storage, transportation and sale of fireworks and provides penalties for violators.

It prohibits the sale, use, manufacture, or possession, at any time, of the following: toy torpedoes,
more than 3-4 of an inch in length;
toy pistol paper caps, containing more than 35 grains of explosive mixtures; firecrackers and salutes, exceeding three inches in length;
sky rockets larger than those com-mercially designed as one-pound size; balloons, parachutes, or like articles; any toy cannon, cane pistol, or other device designed for the purpose of exploding blank cartridges or gun powder; any articles containing a compound or mixture of yellow or white phosphorous, or mercury; fireworks containing an ammonium salt and chlorate or perchlorate; explosive fireworks in which detonation is produced, or assisted, by magnesium, or aluminum, or any finely divided metals; fountains throwing a display more than 10 feet high.

Dates Specified
Retail sales of fireworks will take place between June 23 and July 5. The use of fireworks will be limited to the two days preceding the Fourth of July, on the fourth and until noon of the second day after the Fourth.

Exception is made in the case of toy paper cap pistols and toy pistol paper caps which may be sold and used at any time, if they contain less than 35 grains of explosive mixture.

It will be against the law to discharge, ignite, or explode, fireworks at any point within 600 feet of any hospital, asylum or infirmity.

Fireworks to be sold at wholesale must be kept in a room set aside for the storage of fireworks only.
All retailers are forbidden to expose fireworks in windows where the sun shines through glass on the merchandise displayed, and all fireworks kept for sale on counters must remain in the original packages. No smoking will be allowed in a store where fireworks are offered for sale.

It will be unlawful to sell fireworks of any kind at any time to children under 12 years of age.

"Showers" Prohibited
Use of "fireworks showers" or of any mixture containing potassium chlorate and sulphur, in theaters or public halls will be prohibited.

Upon written permission, secured from the chief of the fire department, or in cities, villages or townships, where there is no fire department, from the mayor, or similar officials, fireworks may be sold and used at other times, than those above designated, for public or private exhibitions of fireworks in connection with fairs, carnivals or other celebrations.

In such cases, parties in charge of such exhibitions will be held strictly responsible for any damage to person, or property, resulting from the use of fireworks.

Regulations are provided for the manufacture and transportation of fireworks with a view to insuring safety for life and property. The manufacture of fireworks will be restricted to such types as are approved for transportation by regulations of the interstate commerce commission.

field. Satisfied then that space was cleared for him, he slipped off on one wing, straightened out and dropped as lightly to the turf as though he were handling a little sport plane instead of a heavy long distance speedster.

"We had a great time," Post said

wearily, and tried to smile.

Gatty, who did the navigating while Post did all the flying, was not as exhausted as Post, and he told a little more of their experiences. They'd had plenty of bad weather, considerable blind flying, hard conditions of flight,

but they'd come through all right and were glad to be home.

"Had Great Time"

Post drank his twentieth glass of water and summed the whole story up as he saw it.

"We had a great time," he said,

and that was the end of that.

What the pair will do after playing the leading roles in one of Manhattan's strenuous popular welcome remains to be seen. Their backer, F. C. Hall, said they might fly their famous plane around the country, and next year they might try a Pacific flight. The plane itself, Hall said, would be flown to the west coast for presentation to his daughter, Mrs. Winnie Mae Hall

Fain of Los Angeles, for whom it is named. Hall expressed himself as more than satisfied with the flight he financed to fulfill a wish expressed by his wife before she died last September.

PLEASANT AWAKENING

Kiss from Mrs. Gatty Ends Globe

Circling Husband's Slumber.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 2—A kiss by his wife awoke the globe-flying

Harold Gatty this morning.

Mrs. Gatty, prevented by thunderstorms from arriving by plane in time to welcome her husband at

Roosevelt field last night, reached

New York by train from Pittsburgh

this morning. She left Los Angeles by plane, Tuesday.

Mrs. Gatty, mother of four children whom she left with neighbors in Glendale, Calif., had no time to talk with reporters when she stepped from the train. She said she must hurry and "kiss Harold."

She made the trip to the hotel in a taxicab, with a motorcycle policeman clearing the way.

Upon arriving at the Ritz, Mrs.

Gatty was taken directly to her

ALLISS TAKES 40 AT START OF TOURNEY

Heat Cuts Size of Field in U. S. Open; Compston Disqualified.

By The Associated Press

INVERNESS CLUB, TOLEDO

O., July 2 Percy Alliss, British professional from Berlin and a pre-tournament favorite, damaged his prospects at the outset today in the United States open golf chamionship by taking 40 strokes, five over par, for the first nine holes.

The early leader at the turn was

Tony Manero of Elmford, N. Y.,

with a 34, one under par. Ed

Ludley, the western open champion, playing with Alliss was out in 36.

Alliss steadied down after his weird start, covering four straight holes in par figures to reach the turn in 40.

In the first pair to reach the turn, Hugh Carpenter posted a 37,

two over par, and Jack Cawsey,

40.

E. W. Gann of Chattanooga,

Tenn., was 43 to the turn, and his partner, Tony Butler, of Corpus Christi, Tex., 37.

Bobby Jones came out to see the early stages of the battle for the title, he relinquished. The Georgian decided against making a gallery's tour of the course,

however, and selected as comfortable a position as he could find in the shade of the clubhouse.

Archie Compston, British professional, was disqualified from participation when he appeared an hour late for the start of his first round.

Scorching, sticky weather, only partially alleviated by a slight breeze, and with little break-up in sight, cut down the size of the field getting away this morning.

It was figured not more than 125 of the original list of 150 would answer the starter's call at the first tee.

FIREMEN CALLED

Firemen from the No. 2 station with Fire Chief McFarland and several men from the central station answered a call to the home of A. H. Ross one and one-half miles west of the city on the Har-dington highway at noon today. Sparks from the chimney had set fire to the roof. The blaze was put out with a $10 loss.

WOMAN HURT WINDING CLOCK

Winding alarm clocks was placed in the category of dangerous undertakings when

Mrs. Ida Kale, 20, an Agosta resident, suffered a dislocated shoulder while winding her clock last night.

Mrs. Kale, now in a Kenton hospital, said she felt a sharp pain in her shoulder

while she was winding "Idex

Iron," planning to rise early today.

A physician said she dislocated the shoulder in winding the clock.

the city, a white, 150-pounder, retained a lot of affect and was very friendly to the group.

One of the pleasant features of the party was the singing of the Georgia Anthem at Edmund's home just a few years after a peace speech in the city and New York at which Edmund, at the Plaza Hotel, and at the Hamilton Place Hotel, Atlanta sang with affection and fervor, and at the same appearance, his wife, who had been in the city for 20 years, sang from the steps of the grand mansion the water

Miss Emma Hunter and Miss Emma C. Hunter and friends by Edith Hunter, one of the speakers, and daughter of the speaker, young Edith, who had the prettiest of Africanized garden flowers.

NEW MEAT CODE TO GOVERN FOOD SALE

Health Board Adopts Text of Proposed City Ordinance.

cases, and 10 cents will be charged for inspecting the carcass of a hog, sheep or goat.

Must Bear Stamp

The plan calls for each quarter or other large piece of the butchered animal to be stamped with "Inspected and Passed Marion Health Department." All meats butchered in large accredited packing plants and stamped by federal inspectors will not be subjected to a second inspection locally except in the manner in which it is offered for sale by retailers.

The proprietor of any packing plant producing meat for consumption in Marion must pay an annual fee of $2 to entitle them to the inspection service under the rates at the packing plant. This ruling applies to packing plants located in other cities. Trips of inspectors to out-of-town plants must be financed by the plant owners.

Farmers who have raised their own animals for butchering, and who wish to retail the meat in Marion may bring their animals to the inspection plant here and obtain inspection at the regular fee schedule without any additional charge.

Provision is made for special circumstances where the inspector might be called to points out of the city and also where inspection is done outside of regular working hours.

Questions not governed by the local code will be acted on in accordance with the provisions of the rules and regulations governing the meat inspection of the United States department of agriculture.

Any carcasses condemned by the inspectors must be disposed of in the presence of an inspector and a record of the incident made and filed.

The code requires retailers of meats to keep their display cases clean and sanitary and to keep the public can not see the meat. It also requires that all meat be kept clean and sanitary and that methods of handling meat other than those required.

Qualifications

Meat inspectors must be thoroughly qualified. High school and four year college training in veterinary medicine are required.

Inspection in the meat and milk department in recent years has been expanded to cover dairy products with a result that Marion county farmers must obtain permits annually from the department and must keep their dairy farms in sanitary condition before they are permitted to market milk in the city. It is hoped that the passage of the meat code will supplement the protection given Marionites by the health department.

Hot weather has placed an unusual strain on milk handlers, it was indicated in the monthly report of Dr. Gruber yesterday. The bacteria count for pasteurized milk ran as high as 57,000 per quart, where around 2,000 is a normal figure. Unusual difficulty in keeping milk refrigerated and in the state of cleanliness in cleaning pasteurizing equipment were responsible for the high count, Dr. Gruber said. The faulty condition of dairy trucks of milk were condemned in June.

A. M. Tolin, city sanitary officer during June totaled 96 has reported yesterday shows. Eleven orders for a general cleanup of premises were among them.

Other reports were submitted by Miss Alma Denney, county tuberculosis nurse, who made 312 visits during the month as a part of her work, and Miss Mabel Hastings, city health nurse, who made 277 visits and assisted in other health activities.

HORSEMAN FINED

Letter's Stable May Be Ruined Off Finest Tracks.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 2—Joseph Letter, owner of the Letter's stable, and who almost cornered the wheat market, faced the possibility today of losing his large stable of horses ruled off America's finest race tracks.

The board of stewards of Arlington Jockey club fined Letter $250 yesterday for "intemperate language and conduct" during his protest against disqualification of his filly, Princess Camella in the third race Tuesday. Turf officials of Kentucky, New York, Maryland and Canada have had working agreements with Chicago stewards, enforcing suspension on all tracks against jockeys and owners found for infractions of the rules.

The Arlington stewards said they would accept no more entries from Letter until he apologized. Letter left without announcing his plans.

WAR DEBT PROGRAM IMPORTANT TO U. S.

American Investments in Various Forms Estimated at Three Billions.

his nation stands to suffer along with Germany if his present mission does not succeed.

Germany has been accused in the past by S. Parker Gilbert, former reparations agent, of failing to put its house in order. He was here in the days when the inflation wiped out most of the internal debt, taking its toll of holders of state bonds and similar investments. He saw money poured out by the government to aid big industrialists. But since his day there has been apparently wholehearted effort to get the house in order, including curtailment of imports and increase in exports.

Nevertheless the drain has been too great so that Germany today finds that domestic demands chiefly are sapping her financial strength.

American Investments

American investments in Germany are estimated to include $200,000,000 in short term credits, $1,500,000,000 in German bonds, and another $1,000,000,000 in stocks, industrial advances on merchandise and other forms.

An unending stream of dollars and other allowances are being paid by the reich. Unemployment maintenance of a large federal employee list, social aid and pensions make huge demands. It is estimated that the state, in one way or another, pays for more than 12,000,000 citizens, that is one of every five citizens dips into the public treasury.

Tax revenues have steadily declined while loan markets tightened, thus making it difficult for Germany to obtain new credits.

In line with "setting its house in order," the government budget for 1931 was 1,000,000,000 marks below the 1930 budget. Furthermore, President Hindenburg by his June 8 decree slashed outlays another 300,000,000 marks and imposed 215,000,000 marks in the new taxes. This drastic move was designed to avoid a breakdown of the budget which in April seemed to balance.

President Hoover's action was taken just in time to help the Reichsbank weather a terrific storm. The bank has kept its gold reserve at 60 per cent but due to a "run" in June on its foreign currency and the withdrawal of foreign credit the cover the day before Mr. Hoover acted was down to 40 per cent the legal minimum.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 2—Bat Baryl, featherweight champion, never feared going against "Iron" Brady, although at night in a scrap that started to be a "title" affair, but was not because the challenger was half a pound over the class limit. Bat got the decision.

The champion pounded the Jersey boy about the middle of the ring occasionally to land a couple on his head and generally making the 10 rounds noticeable for him. Bat suffered a slight cut over his left eye in the third round but it did not bother him any more than Brady's punches, most of which failed to land.

Mellow, mild tobaccos that need no parching

ANY tobacco expert will tell you that parching would ruin the flavor of the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camel cigarettes are blended.

Heating to that extent is an emergency measure resorted to only as an attempt to take part of the bite and burn and sting out of harsh, strong tobaccos.

We do everything to bring you Camels in factory-fresh condition, preserving for your enjoyment the natural moisture together with the rich, rare flavor and aroma of those choice tobaccos.

That's why Camel smokers hold so persistently to Camels. They simply can't enjoy the stale, flat smoke from dried-out, moisture-robbd tobacco.

You see, every Camel package is now a humidior that excludes dust and germs and guarantees factory-fresh Camels to every smoker.

If you are not a Camel smoker, switch over for just one day. After you have discovered how mild, how cool they are to your throat, then leave them for stale hot smokes—if you can.

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morion Downey and Tony Wons—Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday
